NORWAY AND VICINITY
The W. C. T. U. will meet with the president, Mrs. C. N. Tubbs, at her home on Main street, Wednesday afternoon.
Sunday morning at the 2nd Congregational church there will be an attractive musical program rendered by the choir. The pastor, Rev. Robert J. Bruce, will preach upon the theme, "Being."
Rev. B. F. Fickett, a former pastor of the Methodist church here, has accepted a pastorate at Bethel. For the past few years Mr. Fickett has been living in Lewiston and has had no assigned pastorate.

The question for discussion at the meeting of Norway Grange on Saturday, May 11, is the advisability of changing the Constitution of the State so as to allow the borrowing of two million dollars for building State Roads. Discussion opened by Dennis Pike and Alvin Brown.
Someone asked the other day what was the meaning of the word "Pennesseewassee". Dr. G. A. Stephens, in his recent book "When Life Was Young" says the Indians "knew it as the lake where the women died," from the Abnaki word "penen-pagous-abem," in memory, perhaps, of some unsatisfactory tragedy.

Daniel Bryant of Bryant's Pond called on us last Tuesday. He visited town and has some troublesome teeth extracted. April 28th he celebrated his 79th birthday and all the children but one was able to be at the old home. Horatio Bryant of Bryant's Pond was there. Mrs. Abigail Swan of Portland, Mrs. Scott Merrill of Norway and Mrs. F. E. Davis. Mr. Bryant looks younger than his years.

The Barton Reading club met with Mrs. H. P. Jones, on the afternoon of April 25th. There was a good attendance and the readings which were by Mrs. Geo. Holmes and Mrs. Merritt Welch were of much interest. The program committee gave out the plan for next season's reading, and it was accepted. At five o'clock dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. B. F. Bradbury. The next meeting was appointed with Mrs. Geo. A. Brooks.

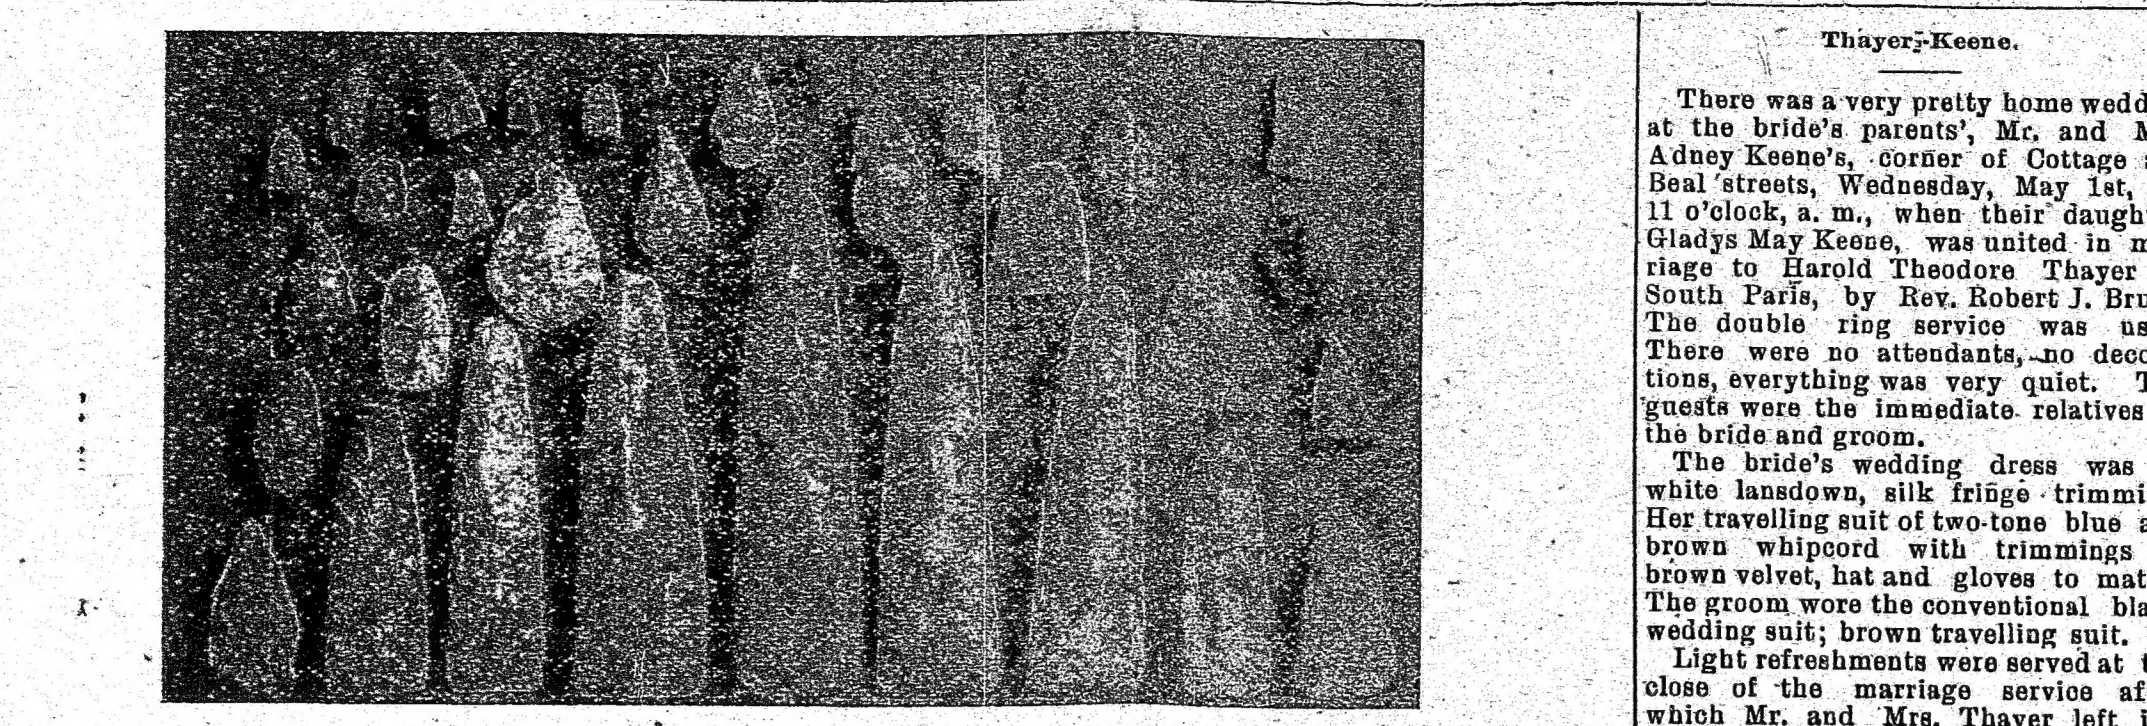

L. E. Dow and wife left their home on Paris street last October and spent the winter with their son, Leon K. Dow, at Waltham, Mass. In the party they overlooked an egg which was in a paper box used for carrying oysters. On the return April 22d they found the egg, and it had neither frozen nor decayed. It was all right and used in making doughnuts. Their son, Leon K., works in the Waltham Watch factory and is liking there. Mr. Dow, senior, worked at carpentering when he was in Waltham. He came from Portland here some two years ago and bought the Matthews' place on Paris street. At this time his son Leon was working for the N. & P. Street Railway Co.

E. H. Jenkins, M. D., of Melrose, Mass., made a visit Monday. He came to West Paris last Saturday to celebrate the 50th anniversary of his birth and visit his mother, Mrs. Chas. C. Dearborn. For some time in the early eighties he was the West Paris correspondent of the ADVERTISER and he and Dr. O. K. Yates, "Tune" applied us with the local happenings in that burgh. The doctor is representing the American Medical Association and called on the physicians in this vicinity. He is married and has a family of several children. His father was in the furniture business in West Paris and died in 1889.

THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)

NUMBER 18. MAY 3, 1912, NORWAY, MAINE. VOLUME XLIII.

Flint Indian Imp'emen's taken from Moosehead Lake, June 1911.

Norway Municipal Court.

Wm. F. Jones, Judge.
State vs. Leroy Knight. Knight was arrested by Deputy Sheriff John McNeil at Oxford. On his person was quite a quantity of liquor that it was alleged was for illegal sale. He pleaded not guilty and as there was insufficient evidence and the officer wished more time for the matter the case was continued for one week. Knight was placed under $100 bonds until that time. H. M. Stone, the town clerk of Harrison where Knight lives, was the surety. It was stated by Knight that this liquor was for his use and that he had been in the habit of going to Oxford village for it.

Declines to Take the Lead.
Dr. H. P. Jones asked us the other day what we were going to do about a sewer.
"Nothing more," was the reply.
"His health reluctantly compels us to join the just staying-in-the-class in the community and ask for membership in the Down and Out Club."

"Sorry it's so doctor, but it's a fact we can't lead in the sewer improvement however much it's needed; have just got to follow the lines of the least resistance and take chances of getting through before the arrival of the general pestilence which sooner or later will come for want of proper sewerage."

Why don't you take up the cudgel and lead off? You are young and well and ambitious—if not you, there are others equally interested. You have a reasonably fair charter, a preliminary survey and an estimate of the cost and are assured the support of the ADVERTISER and a lot of citizens who live on the back street of this town.

In the slang of the great ex-President T. R., why not "go to it" and do some thing?
It's up to somebody besides Sanborn. There is Col. Stearns, Leon Curtis, Gene Andrews, Harry Whittridge, E. B. Foster and other live and enterprising citizens—do something.

Golden Wedding Anniversary.
On Wednesday, May 1st, occurred the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram L. Libby. In the afternoon an informal reception was held at their pleasant home on Deering street, where their many friends called to congratulate and wish them many more years of happiness together.

They were especially honored by the Browning Reading club of which she has been president for many years, and Mr. Hope Rebekah Lodge of which she is a charter member and Chaplain. Refreshments of punch and fancy crackers were served.

There was a good attendance present, and the magazine readings were by Mrs. Nellie Shepley and Mrs. Miriam Bruce. The next meeting will be with Mrs. E. F. Bicknell. The program will consist of roll call with quotations from Henry Van Dyke; readings, Mrs. Miriam Bruce and Mrs. Thuzza Lovejoy.

In I. W. White's show window laid a beautifully hand painted and artistically decorated embowered in lettuce. It was the handiwork of J. W. Nash, and the fish came from Belgrade Lake. The time was appropriate as the ice had just left Lake Pennesseewassee, and it attracted much attention from local fish admiring experts. One said: "I've always claimed the trout from this lake are the finest colored and brightest marked of any in the world, the prettiest trout that swims, see that one?" He stood gazing affectionately on it with the others, not once thinking it was a lacquered beauty from Belgrade.

Mrs. Lucius J. Bartlett.

Mrs. Sarah Shackley Bartlett died at her home, just below the village, Sunday, April 28th, of heart failure, at the age of 69 years, 3 months and 9 days. She was born in Norway, the daughter of Ebenezer Crooker and Serena (Hall) Shackley, Jan. 19, 1843. Ebenezer Shackley was long a trader in Norway village, commencing in 1839. Billie Burke held the audience, crowded to its fullest capacity, from the moment she entered the stage and won all hearts by her piquant, saucy, mischievous and charming ways.

The company supporting her is one of Charles Frohman's best. C. Audrey Smith plays the middle-aged painter, Delonay, who is fifty years old, and with whom Billie, aged eighteen, falls violently in love.

The play was handsomely staged and the scenery and settings especially in the last act, a villa near Monte Carlo, was especially attractive.

Thayer-Keene.

There was a very pretty home wedding at the bride's parents', Mr. and Mrs. Adney Keene's, corner of Cottage and Beal streets, Wednesday, May 1st, at 11 o'clock, a. m., when their daughter, Gladys May Keene, was united in marriage to Harold Theodore Thayer of South Paris, by Rev. The bride's wedding dress was of white laces, silk fringe trimming. Her travelling suit of two-tone blue and brown whipcord with trimmings of brown velvet, hat and gloves to match. The groom wore the conventional black wedding suit, brown travelling suit. Light refreshments were served at the close of the marriage service after which Mr. and Mrs. Thayer left immediately for Old Orchard, where they have taken a cottage on St. John's Avenue for the summer.

Mr. Thayer is a printer and has been employed at South Paris on the Democrat this winter. He will work at printing at Old Orchard.

Mrs. Thayer is a very popular Norway girl, a graduate of Norway High school. She has been employed in the shoe factory since her graduation. She has a fine voice and has often sang in public. There will also be a large number of interesting views of the "Titanic" disaster. Skating and dancing will be in order after the show.

After three years of faithful service, our night watchman, Ernest W. Hutchins, has resigned the position. We hope the corporation will get as efficient a man to take his place. During his term of service several fires have been put out, that but for prompt and intelligent action would have been disastrous, if not fatal.

The moving pictures at Concert Hall, Monday evening, were very good. Among them were Lost Courage, Declaration of Independence and Paul Revere's Ride. Marion Gibson furnished the music and Marjorie Barker gave several popular selections. The screen is placed at the right of the hall and the views flashed from the window on the opposite side.

We have an account book belonging to Joseph Edward Carson, who was born in Berlin, N. H., January 8, 1878. This book was picked up in the street and left at this office. Some of the receipts show the name to be J. E. Carson and he is evidently a member of Naples Grange, No. 94. There is a receipt in it for the Berlin Reporter for 1910. We want the owner to have this book.

The street sprinkler made its first public appearance for the season on Wednesday, at A. L. Millett proprietor and driver. Right here at the commencement of the season we want to say that the bill for street sprinkling is paid by the merchants and others along Main street. As is usual in such cases some pay more than their part and others, who are equally able and who get benefit from a well sprinkled street, do not pay anything. To be sure the water is shut off right in front of the business places where owners do not pay, but unfortunately the wind will blow the dust across the street where those who do sprinkle live and those who "don't believe in sprinkling" do get the benefit of the sprinkled street of those who do want less dust. The sprinkler has been newly painted this year, a reddish brown.

Bliss Business College 9: N. H. S. 4.
A fair sized crowd witnessed an interesting game of ball between Bliss Business college and Norway High school at the Fair Grounds, Saturday, April 27th. Until the 9th inning the game was close and interesting, the score being 5 to 4 in favor of Bliss. Expectancy ran high as to who would step in and claim the game. Bliss did this in the 9th, when four men crossed home plate and the game was decided. Considering the team Bliss brought with them, the High school put up a good game and have high hopes of winning the return game at Lewiston, June 1.

A Measure of Merit

Norway Citizens Should Weigh Well This Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence. Convincing evidence in Norway is not the testimony of strangers. But the endorsement of Norway people.

That's the kind of proof given here—The statement of a Norway citizen.

O. I. Pitts, blacksmith, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "I was attacked with kidney trouble several years ago, caused by a cold settling in my kidneys. I suffered from pain across my back and sides and I also had difficulty with the kidney secretions. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured a box at Stone's Drug Store and began using them. They cured me, and for that reason I do not hesitate to recommend them."

The above statement was given July 24, 1908 and on July 11, 1911 Mr. Pitts said: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me three years ago I have had little or no trouble from my kidneys. I recommend this remedy whenever I have an opportunity."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

The Two Giants. By Elizabeth Merrill. Proudly from old Norway, Cheers rang on the cool air. As it passed over the bay, Dark was it and mighty. Ribbed with iron and steel It to conquer nature.

Perfect from tower to keel. Out of the weird northland Came a giant all in white. No man saw this giant. It came at dead of night. Down came the black waters To those so still and calm, Sailing to the southward.

There grew the rose and palm. Night was cool and starlit. Each giant held a torch. One was dark and sombre. While one was veiled with gray. And one was built by God. Both on maiden journeys. Over highway never trod. Slow moved the white giant. Fast sailed the black one. Like a bridegroom seeking bride. Calmly the white giant. On the black breast. Then swept on to southland. To find its long sought mate. Stars might were gazing At giants of a day. One to sink in ocean. And one to mock away. Parted loved and loving. On earth no more to meet; Some have made the harbor. Some sleep at the sea's feet. Tears must fall for lost one. And tell for those that stay; Life for life was given. As the ship sailed away. Great souls softly singing "Nearer My God to Thee; Dearest love forever. Though lost, far out at sea.

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation.
In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Rexal Ordinaries are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhea, nausea, griping, excessive loose-ness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexal Ordinaries are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendants. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction.
Three sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents and 30 tablets 50 cents.
Remember, you can obtain Rexal Remedies in Norway only at our store—The Rexal Store, P. P. Stone, 142 Main St.,

KRYPTOKS

Two Visions in a One-Piece Lens

There are two classes of people to whom this question is of vital interest. Do you belong to either?

The first are those who can read comfortably with their present glasses but are plunged into a hazy, indefinite world when viewing distant objects. They may be stumbling along the street to their personal discomfort, recognizing their friends with difficulty, if at all, and subjecting their eyes to a constant strain.

The second class consists of those who are trying unsatisfactorily to remedy just such conditions. Perhaps they are encumbered with two separate pairs of glasses of different "strength"—one for reading, another for distant vision. Or they may have resorted to the old type of bifocal glasses with their cemented lenses or separate segments in one frame, either possessing those ever present dividing lines which are a disfigurement and an annoyance to the wearer.

If you belong to either of these classes, here are some reasons why you should look into this question of Kryptoks at once:

Because they give you the two visions you require in one pair of glasses.

Because they are to all practical purposes single, solid lenses.

Because they possess no lines of demarcation and no segments;
hence do not drop apart nor collect dirt in creases.

Because they are as graceful on the face as any pair of single vision eye glasses.

Because they are on more liable to breakage than the ordinary single focus lenses.

These reasons in themselves answer the question "why" conclusively. A second question immediately suggests itself—how? By what magic means have these long sought results been realized?

The answer is simple, after all, for magic means are nothing more than scientific means. A Kryptok lens is made of two pieces of glass of different substances and foci fused into a single piece of glass and ground as a single lens. The result is the highest step yet attained in the evolution of bifocal lenses—a problem which has commanded the attention of opticians for many years.
Kryptok lenses must be seen to be appreciated. Ask us to show them to you.

A Brilliant Concert.
By Mr. Chapman and Artists.—Under the auspices of Norway High School. Joseph Schaller's superb violin playing made a brilliant opening to the Chapman concert given Friday evening at Grange hall for the benefit of Norway High School. The soloists received accolades until the program was quite doubled in length, even then not satisfying the demands of the audience.

Miss Schaller plays with a big, broad tone, beautifully clear and colored, and her technique is equal to every demand placed upon it while in exquisite nuance and shade she gave evidence of the rare temperamental powers with which she is endowed. She was heard in four numbers and her enchanting interpretations were a revelation to the audience. "The Romance of Wladimir" was replete with color and life, while the "Ries" was a masterpiece of technique.

with refinement and instinct with selection was invested with every element of total beauty and expression. In her third group, the lovely "Oriental" of Casar Cui, she made a profound impression upon her hearers. A distinctive feature of her performance was the "Liebeslied" also was the Kreisler "Liebeslied", full of rhythmic charm and a fluent grace that made it notably effective. The Pepper "Elfenlied" with its beautiful, magnificent work was brought to a close, was a tour de force distinguished for its mastery of technique and its impeccable style.

Mildred Potter received a most cordial greeting. Whatever she sings she does with an assurance, a sympathetic insight and a noble significance, infinitely satisfying. The aria from "Les Huguenots" was beautifully sung as were the lighter numbers of the second group, each bringing forth enthusiastic applause. The "Sea" by MacDowell, proving one of the gems of the evening, its tragic and mournful mood showing Miss Potter at her highest and best, and vividly picturing in many minds the dramatic disaster. It was dramatically delivered. Miss Potter's noble contralto with its depth and mellowness of tone, its sonorous power and magnificent sweep, was a delight to hear. Miss Potter knows her songs and artists through and through; knows exactly how she will sing; knows every note of them, and colors everything that she sings with her own individuality. There is an impression of the power that comes from assured mastery in all she sings.

John Barnes Wells' tenor voice is of delightful quality and is used with equally delightful art so that whether he sings a big aria like that from "L'Africaine," by Meyerbeer, or captivating bits of the type of "Foggy Day," he is always at home and makes it for the time the one and only thing to the assemblage. Mr. Wells has innumerable resources of the vocal art at the very tip of his tongue and uses them with consummate skill. His enunciation is a joy and quite as distinguished as his diction. He made his numbers a charming feature of the evening. Mr. Wells' fine, resonant voice has something of a barytone quality in the lower register, and in the upper register, it is clear, white and expressive interpretation is a note of his artistic quality. And he is not less at home in a native Irish love song, or in a rollicking duty like "Rolling Down to Rio," than in the more important arias.

Both he and Miss Potter repeated their successes in the duos and the little touch of opera in the Gypsy duet from "Trovatore" and the Hilda duet selection at the close gave variety to the program and threw into charming relief the solo numbers.

Those who have heard Mr. Chapman's artistic accompaniments, know what pleasure is in store for them. He is compared as a grand orchestra as an accompanist, and all singers are fortunate, when he will consent to play for them.

Mr. Chapman's little speech was received with applause. He spoke highly of the management by the High School. He missed Norway and South Paris and the great festival chorus. He spoke of the high standard the Maine Festival had earned at home and abroad. He told the story again of how the conception of this great musical event came from a Norway man, Horner, and how it was the light of day in the Congregational church rooms at Norway when he and Mr. Horne first talked this over and pictured what the "now is" might be. The greatest singers in the world have sung in these Festivals and Maine takes no second place in the music world with its Nordica, its Bamer, its Farrar, its Scallor and hundreds of less renowned men and women. Surely Norway has attained a high place in the musical world, even if it never sings another note, as the birthplace of the Maine Musical Festival.

Winter Trip to Moosehead Lake.

Whitefish Holes Located and Baited. Imposed Upon-Gum Pickers-Mud Pond Rules and Trapper-Indian Implements-Flint Quarry-Log Haul in the Water etc.

"We have been pursuing some whitefish holes but as yet have got no fish. The whitefish ponds are in deep water. The exact location for the hole is all important. It must be laid out in the nicety of a sixteenth of an inch, exactly as in producing hole was last year or it is no good. It often requires cutting through the ice several times before the exact spot is found, depth of water and the bottom of the lake is considered. Shore land marks and crude maps of charts are considered.

Theron E. Heald, Esq., the Thorofo Camp proprietor, located this one and while not present when it was done, we have every reason to believe it was properly done, the exact spot where the fish were in untold numbers for the past score of years.

Everything about the camp that was of no use and will sink in water was turned into this hole. Bones, broken glass, dead cats, heads, roasters, eggshells, snatched by man, corn meal and mince pies; anything and everything. You must let loose a sled load of this rubbish each morning, commencing on the dark of the moon and in seven days you'll begin to catch fish.

Whitefish is this hole ten minutes each morning before and after the dump is thrown in. Thirty-nine feet and three tenths of an inch from top of ice to the clayey soil at bottom of the lake. Use the line with small, strong hook, the fine line covered by the least bit of bright metal. From pond chub, you fish, within 7 to 10 inches of the bottom. Gently pull up the line and let it drop, use big sinkers and after seven consecutive days you are sure to get 'em—if they bite. This we have faithfully done and more than 600 and have returned home each day empty handed—round trip 2 1/2 miles.

We begin believing they have made a fool of us and took this means to clean up the back yard of the camp. You thought so too if you had seen the toboggan loads of tin cans, broken earthenware, cement, pieces of bricks, plaster and spilt mill feed we dragged up the lake a mile and a quarter to dump in that hole.

At the end of the tenth day we wisely concluded the hole was not properly located and had another hole driven through the ice seventeen and a half rods east of the old one on a straight line from the easterly nubble on Kinco mountain to the northwest corner of Coburn's camp. Depth of water 41 feet and a fraction, contour of the bottom and soil satisfactory. The balance of rubbish and useless sinkable stuff at camp including boiled cusk and hen feed was hauled here and dumped in the prescribed method. We then had two opportunities and were working both claims with like results.

Some twelve days after we had moved every useless sinkable thing we could find at the camp word came to us via Greenville from "Hogs" Harrington, guide, that white fish were biting and that he gets so much you'd have to wear slippers and refrain from sneezing while on it. This settled it. We'd been worked. "Hogs" Harrington is a brother of Mrs. Heald.

After the arrival of the crows and they usually stay here the last of March, you must not leave fish on the ice unless you wish to feed the crows. We left a cusk for a few hours and on our return only the backbone remained and it was picked clean of flesh. The poor birds are hungry and keep a sharp lookout for something to eat. We have seen a crow in the summer flying with gulls swoop down and pick up and carry away feed from the surface of the water.

The continuous bobbing of a line becomes monotonous especially when the fish won't bite and makes your back ache, so we were induced to join the Gum Pickers' Union and devote some days to it. Snowshoes were worn as the crust in the wood would not hold you up. We visited the spruce gum bearing trees on the island with good results. On stormy days the gum was cleaned and the lumps sorted into three grades. The chips, cleanings and worthless pieces were carefully saved for the steamer tank. Nothing was wasted as gum is gum and sells in the settlements for 15 to 25 cents per ounce.

A ton of spruce gum at the lowest price mentioned brings four thousand and eight hundred dollars. We don't buy it by the ounce for less than the price stated. Try it and see. The demand exceeds the supply, which is constantly growing smaller as the spruce trees are cut.

We picked over three hundred dollars' worth—our estimate of value—Dr. Hagar assisting. We shan't part with a bit of it for less than $2.00 per ounce. It cost us that and we have a right to get our money back, if we can. We brought home more pounds of spruce gum than fish.

The Mainland was visited once in our 37 days' stay. Frank T. Auchie, the Mud Pond hunter, trapper and guide was called on. His spruce log bungalow is in a deer and rabbit swamp a half mile northeast of the pond on the outlet stream. It's a 20-minute walk from the big Lake and 3 1/2 miles distant from Lily Bay, his postoffice, and 12 miles to the railroad station at Greenville Junction.

Auchie's cabin is picturesque in structure and location and is a home plenty filled to overflowing with needful things and happiness. Here he has lived for the past 18 years tending his traps and listening to the song of the chickadees and the storms in the winter; guiding and fighting fire and mosquitoes in the short spell called summer. Auchie is a king and the 11x14 1/2 log camp is a castle and he is monarch and ruler of the Mud Pond district.

Before arriving at the camp, footprints told us the proprietor was absent. The door was not locked and we entered and took possession. You stoop to enter the door, light is admitted by three panes of 9x11 glass on two sides of the camp; the walls are papered, a bed and a shake-down, boxes, table, shelves, stove, sink, clothing and firewood, both hard and soft, were stored therein. There were many magazines and papers. The owner of this camp is a 50-year-old college graduate and he can talk both French and English and can even now read a train of Latin and Greek. Everything in this camp was packed away as orderly and neatly as on ship-board.

Dr. Hagar got dinner, helping himself to needful things. There was plenty: pork, flour, tea, coffee, potatoes, onions, milk, sugar, etc.

Auchie returned from Lily Bay about three and was pleased to see us and insisted on our remaining over night. He has about 125 traps set and reports a fair catch of fur, among which were two others, 11 milk, rats, weasels, etc. The fur he sells in Boston.

We notice he took the precaution of marking out in the almanac each day as it passes, so he will not lose his calendar reckoning of days and weeks. This he did some years ago in February which badly mixed him up.

Auchie tells us the old beaver returned about ten years. The lone beaver was there for several years when he first came to the camp and then moved to South Brook and has now returned. Last summer while stopping at Greenville's camp, Sugar Island, we made a big find of Indian implements made from flint. See picture on first page of this paper. We supposed at the time that there is a flint rock quarry on the mainland near where the flood was made. We cannot vouch for the truth of this fact but shall investigate it this summer.

All the larger stone implements shown in the cut, except one, were actually dipped from the water with a landing net. The smallest one was found on the beach. The dictionary pictures "neolithic celts" to look like these and says: "An ax-shaped stone or metal implement, employed by prehistoric and primitive people." For what purpose they were used we can only guess.

The smaller ones shown were found at the workshop for the Indian tool makers. They are all imperfect and were cast away by the makers. Quantities of these have been found there, especially before the raising of the water in the lake and the grading and laying out of roads and lanes about the Mammoth hotel that is now on Kinco Point.

Alex McCarron & Sons of Greenville are operating under Elephant Head and landing logs on Prong Pond. They had taken out a number of million and were within three days of cleaning up when the ice gave away under the engine of their log haul and it was dumped into the water and back on the road. It took some three days to get it out of the water and back on the road.

Tuesday, April 9th, we came down the lake on the ice to Beaver Creek. The Lily Bay stage with Sandy Mullen as driver, landed us at the Y. M. C. A. at Greenville Junction and the 3 20 p. m. train took us down the hill and out of the frozen region of the big lake.
